

Terry Watkinson - Saxophone

Terry Watkinson needs no introduction to most of us Toronto area rock fans of a certain vintage, as he's a founding member, keyboardist, vocalist and composer in Canadian progressive rock legends Max Webster, who even today remain FM classic rock staples across the nation. Much to the band's delight, several years ago Terry thought that a nice way to spend time with his daughter Chloe would be to join her in Floyd Factor, where his incredible multi-instrumental talents and appreciation of Floyd's music made for a comfortably fun fit. Terry is also a professional painter/artist, and also recently released his latest solo album entitled "Ask", available on Amazon.ca (which we're not supposed to say is brilliant... but it is!).